

1924 ROTARY CONVENTION COMES HERE

FREE DILLAGE IN CANADA IN MURDER CASE

North Dakota Farmer in Alleged Whisky Deal Found
Not Guilty by Jury

RE-ARRESTED AGAIN

Will Face Robbery Charge
Growing Out of Transaction
in Which Man Was Killed

Estevan, Sask., Mar. 22.—Lee Dillage of Lignite, N. D., acquitted of a murder charge late yesterday in connection with the death of Paul Matoff, Regina liquor dealer, on October 4, 1922, today faced trial on a charge of robbery. The additional charge was preferred by the Crown and is also the outgrowth of a liquor transaction, it is alleged. The jury which acquitted the man of the murder charge was out two hours.

Testimony at the murder trial was to the effect that Matoff was shot and killed shortly after he had concluded a $6,000 liquor transaction with Dillage at Beinfalt, Sask. The money which Dillage paid Matoff was stolen.

The prosecution held that Dillage was a member of the gang which, after purchasing the liquor from Matoff, planned to hold him up and relieve him of the purchase price. William Rhodes, prosecutor, said that it had been shown that some members of the gang came on but there were indications that the plot had not intended the serious consequences which resulted. The date of the robbery trial has not been set.

HOW CASE BROKE DOWN
Refusal of Mr. Justice Bigelow to admit evidence from E. W. Dickinson, star witness for the crown in the Matoff murder case, deprived those attending the trial of Lee Dillage, charged with being an accessory to the crime.

Dillage had been in jail at the provincial jail, had been collected and was about to relate statements Dillage is alleged to have made to him at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing in November last, when N. R. Craig, counsel for the accused, objected. Mr. Craig's objection was that the statements, if any, made by Dillage on the occasion in question, could not have been voluntary, as the witness was then and is now wearing a uniform.

The objection was sustained and Justice Bigelow refused to permit the crown counsel to question the man further. The evidence for the prosecution was then finished. No witnesses were called for the defense.

Dillage's story, as told to authorities, Matoff was shot by an unidentified man, armed with a sawed off shotgun, and who was the member of a gang that fed after taking Matoff of $6,000 and a diamond stick pin valued at about the same amount.

A quantity of the liquor which Dillage is alleged to have been bargaining for was later found on the Dillage farm near Lignite, N. D., where it had been cleverly hidden.

Dillage when in the court room was extremely nervous and the developments of the developments. Occasionally he leaned over and confers with his counsel. He shows the results of the six months confinement in jail at Regina, his complexion being whitened and lacking the tuddy hue which appeared when he was taken into custody by the sheriff of Burke county, N. D., and turned over to Canadian authorities.

Climax of Rum Running
The killing of Matoff was the sensation of the liquor running era, the victim being a brother-in-law of Bronfman, the supposed head of the liquor supply house, syndicate and the chief source of the border traffic which is supposed to be the cause of bootlegging and whiskey running more than half fill the criminal docket at this time of king's court bench, and promise thrills for spectators for many days. Out of the 13 cases set down for hearing at the session six have their origin somewhere along the blood and tear soaked whiskey trail. The Dillage case, however, is the outstanding event of the session.

In somewhat less degree of interest, but each rich in possibilities of thrills are the four other criminal cases. Thomas Jordan will answer to negotiating a worthless bank check given in a lynch mob. The gang of amateur raiders from Grainsburg will answer to a charge of breaking into the express office and stealing quantities of liquor.

VALLEY CITY GETS W. C. T. U.

Fargo, Mar. 22.—Valley City was chosen as the meeting place for the 1923 convention of the North Dakota W. C. T. U. and the dates set were Sept. 21-25.

The session was taken at the session of the midyear meeting of the executive board, in session at the First Baptist church.

The board also passed a resolution endorsing the action of the recent legislative assembly in memorializing congress and the war department to allow the use of one of the buildings at Fort Lincoln, near Bismarck, for housing and treatment of tubercular children of North Dakota.

Broadway Beauty Mysteriously Slain

Clues which may lead to the arrest of a "society raffles" are being followed by the police in an attempt to solve the mysterious death of beautiful Dorothy King, Broadway white light favorite. She is thought to have been slain by New York thieves who escaped with her jewels valued at $30,000.

BANK CASE IS ON TRIAL IN U. S. COURT

Suit Grows Out of Difficulties of President of South
Dakota Bank

A jury in federal court today was hearing a case growing out of affairs of Christian Borlander, who was president of the First National bank of Eureka, S. D., August 11, 1920, when he shot himself.

The case, that of Paul Keyes, receiver of the Eureka bank against the Security State Bank of Strasburg, North Dakota, is for $5,000, the amount of a note paid to the Security State bank. A note had been taken up with a draft of the Eureka bank. It is claimed by the plaintiff that the note actually was a personal note of Borlander's and that the bank's money was used to pay it.

At the time of the draft payment Borlander's balance in his favor appeared to be about $30,000, but actually after his death it was found to be overdrawn and Borlander was short in the bank.

The plaintiff is represented by James M. Brown of Aberdeen, and Judge E. T. Burke of Bismarck, while the defendant is represented by A. A. Dunham of Clark, S. D.

Another case, involving a somewhat similar transaction but in amount of $4,000, will also be tried. In this case the First National bank of Linton is defendant.

A jury in the court returned a verdict for the defendant in the case of the Liberty State bank of Minneapolis against the Farmers State bank of Bowman.

Many of the jurors have been excused by Judge Miller and local men called to take their places, the action being taken to permit many jurors to return to their homes.

WIFE OF WAR CHIEF IS ILL

Brunswick, Ga., Mar. 22.—Mrs. John W. Weeks, wife of the Secretary of War, is very ill on board the private yacht Evergreen, which was hurried into port shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning to secure medical aid.

COL. RITCHIE VISITS GUARD

Valley City, Mar. 22.—Colonel D. S. Ritchie, newly appointed Colonel of the 104th Infantry which comprises the North Dakota National Guard, inspected the company last evening at the Armory. The inspection was in the nature of a preliminary to the inspection by Colonel Thomas Rogers of the U. S. Army, which is to be held on Monday evening, March 25th. Following the inspection, Colonel Ritchie gave a talk on the morale and spirit of the National Guard.

PETITIONS ARE PREPARED

R. W. Frazier Says Election
Law Petitions to be Circulated Soon

Petitions for a referendum of the two chief election laws of the last general assembly have not yet been actually circulated, but will be in the very near future. R. W. Frazier of Crosby, chairman of the Republican state committee recognized by the Nonpartisans, said here today. Mr. Frazier secured copies of the laws here from the office of the secretary of state and said he would discuss the exact form the petitions should take to be legal with Attorney General Shufert.

Tentative copies of petitions, which had been prepared and forwarded to the office of the secretary of state for approval, were found not to be in the proper form, he said, and for this reason he planned to consult officials before drafting the final form. The tentative copies contained the names of members of a "committee for petitioners," the names being suggested at the Republican executive committee meeting here at which it was decided to inaugurate the referendum, he said. All five men named will be consulted before the final draft is made, and their names will not be retained without their consent, he added.

It is the desire to have the referendum at the election of November, 1924, because the presidential race probably will attract the largest vote possible, Mr. Frazier added.

DEMAND PROBE OF BOOSTS OF SUGAR PRICES

Letter to President Harding
Declares People are to be
Gouged by Half Billion

ASSAILS U. S. DEPARTMENT

Says Bulletin Worded so as to Increase Speculative
Buying

MONTH LATE, HE SAYS.
Washington, March 22.—Demands now being made for an investigation of sugar price fluctuations are "about a month behind," Secretary Hoover said today, adding that such an inquiry had been instituted by the government on March 4.

The secretary said he was convinced there was no economic justification for high prices of sugar, and that the department of commerce and other government departments were investigating conditions in Cuba under authority of law passed in Congress authorizing inquiry into foreign producers of commodities imported.

Washington, Mar. 22.—Demands for an investigation of fluctuations in the sugar market made during the closing days of Congress by western senators were revived today by appearance of a letter written to President Harding by Basil Manly, director of the Peoples Legislative Service, charging that the American people were in a fair way of being robbed of five hundred million dollars "for the benefit of sugar gamblers and profiteers."

"It is suggested," said Mr. Manly
"whose organization was formed by members of the Progressive Bloc in Congress "that as one of the first things the federal grand jury should hear Claud Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers aided by the department of commerce "have been enabled to rob the American people of millions of dollars."

Mr. Manly declared the rise in prices had no basis "so far as the public is informed" in a statement issued by the Department of Commerce on February 9 which was interpreted "by all the newspapers" as predicting a great shortage of sugar during the coming year and that although Secretary Hoover had declared the statement was misinterpreted the opening sentence was no worded "as to end prices leaping upward."

"Even after this statement had aroused an orgy of speculative activity on the sugar exchange" and its evil effects were known, the statement continued, "the department of Commerce further 'bulled' the market by issuing a statement directing attention to the increased consumption of sugar in the United States during the past year."

Declaring that an attempt by Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, to obtain a senate investigation of sugar prices was blocked by Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican whip, who pleaded investigation by the department of commerce the letter asserted that since that time the department of commerce had announced the department did not intend to make an inquiry and suggested that the grand jury should also summon Senator Mr. Hoover, Senators, Curtis, Hoover and Edge, Republicans, to ascertain "what they know regarding influences that were exerted to block the senate investigation."

2 FARM HOMES ARE BURNED

Shedon, N. D., March 22.—The explosion of a cook stove, and an overheated stovepipe started two fires
Monday that destroyed the frame residences of Edward and Louis Aus-tad, brothers, and of Hans Bratland, 13 miles southeast of here.

The Austad brothers are bachelors and were at the barn doing the morning chores and did not discover the fire until it was well under way.
They saved only a small amount of wearing apparel and a writing desk.
The fire was carried on both house and contents.

Neighbors were just leaving the fire at the Austad's farm, when the Hans Bratland home, two miles distant, caught fire and they rushed there and succeeding in saving most of the furniture.

Andrew Bratland narrowly escaped burning to death when a part of the roof fell in while he was trying to get the cook stove from the kitchen.
He was badly bruised and burned about the head and shoulders. Mr.
Bratland carried no insurance.

Inquest into Montana
Woman's Case

DRANK POISON IN ROOM

Business Partner in Room
Says He Tried to Prevent the Act

Great Falls, Mont., Mar. 22.—A verdict of suicide by poisoning was returned last night by a coroner's jury that heard evidence relating to the death in a local hotel Monday night of Mrs. Allice Benson, formerly of Pittsfield, Minn.

Mrs. Benson was a business partner in a store at Shelby, Montana, of A. L. Sampson, promoter of the heavy weight championship fight between Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, and Jack Dempsey, July 4, at Shelby, 100 miles north of here.

Mrs. Benson came here from Shelby last Saturday and Sampson arrived Saturday.

The nature of the verdict returned last night was learned from authentic sources but was not given out at the inquest. Newspaper men and spectators were excluded from the inquest room after the evidence was concluded. Sampson was the principal witness at the inquest. He testified that Mrs. Benson drank the poison in his presence while they were in her hotel room and that the act was committed before he could interfere. So far as he could determine, he said, there was no reason for her to be despondent other than that she was worried over financial matters. Mrs. Benson was 28 years old.

BELGIANS TAKE KRUPP HARBOR TO GAIN TAXES

All Kinds of Smuggling Tricks
Are Used by Germans
To Evade It

Dusseldorf, Mar. 22.—Belgian troops have occupied Krupp harbor at Hochepuerich on the Rhine near Duisburg for the purpose of controlling exports from this harbor and the collection of the 10 per cent tax on goods shipped.

All kinds of smuggling tricks have been resorted to by the Germans in order to bring money from Berlin into the occupied area. In one instance the French customs authorities at a front post discovered buldies of tin hidden under shipments of vegetables. The money was confiscated.

Various German government officials, according to the press, are being used to either the passive resistance measures. The French claim the Germans are using the banks and postoffices as well as individuals to bring money into the Ruhr. In Dusseldorf the French seized at a postoffice 15,000,000 marks which had been sent there for one of the strike leaders to distribute among the working men under government pay.

Doctor, Facing Trial in Fritzzi Mann Murder, Blames "Fool Altruism"

By NEA Service.
San Diego, Calif., March 22.—
Good Samaritan to a pretty girl on a perilous byway of love.
Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, 30, debonaire captain in the United States Public Health Service at Camp Kearney, will seek to persuade a jury this was his odd role in the case of Fritzzi Mann, for whose murder he stands indicted and will go to trial March 26.

"Damned fool altruism," he says, accounted for his interest in the attractive 30-year-old cabaret dancer whose half-clad body was found on the lonely Torrey Pines beach Jan.
15.

For the circumstances shaping the tragedy and for any act leading to her death the army physician has loudly disclaimed guilt.

Case Circumstantial.
The case against him, so far as it has been divulged by District Attorney Kempey, is wholly circumstantial. He expects to establish an alibi "when the proper time comes."
Prosecution is based on the theory that Miss Mann was stunned by a blow on the head and was then cast into the sea where she was drowned after brief revival.

She had spent the early part of the previous evening with a man at the Blue Sea cottages in La Jolla.
The two arrived in a closed car and were registered by E. A. Kern, proprietor, as man and wife under fictitious names.

Kern had identified the woman carefully and identified her readily.
About the man he was less certain.
Miss Mann and her escort left the cabin for an hour; returned and left again for good. Kern will tell the jury.

Possessions Scattered.
The spot where the body was found is 10 miles away. On the road, apparently scattered in flight, were the handbag, vanity case and kimono of the dancer and a blanket from the Blue Sea cottage.

The pretty entertainer was the victim of her own popularity is the autopsy testimony. She had loved someone not wisely but too well, according to surgeons.
And it was in worry of the consequences that she consulted him, declares Dr. Jacobs. He had, he admitted, advised her about a complicated operation which was to have taken place in a few days after the sea solved her problem. He had also arranged for a nurse, police said.

"I am a friend of the dead girl," the army man told officers the day investigation started. "She had recently confided in me. Told me she was secretly married. I want to do what I can to help clear the mystery."

Dr. Jacobs was arrested, released on a writ of habeas corpus, and then secretly indicted two weeks later after Chief of Police Patrick had said to him, "I'm not at all satisfied with what you have told us."

The weakness of the state's case is the professed inability of E. A.
Kern positively to identify Jacobs as the man who occupied his cottage with Miss Mann.

Dr. Jacobs' defense weakness lies in failure thus far to substantiate with witnesses his claim that he was at the Grand hotel during the hours fixed by investigators as the death period.

Army friends are strongly aligned behind the Camp Kearney captain and the trial promises to be one of the bitterest contests ever fought in San Diego courts.

Fritzzi Mann was born in Austria of Polish-Hungarian parents. She lived in Denver from childhood until about two years ago, when she came to San Diego and Los Angeles.

Farmer Says He Saw Them
Lead Man, Who Was Killed, Into Field

Murron, Ill., Mar. 22.—All of the six defendants on trial for the murder of Antonio Mulecavitz today stood identified with the Herring riot of last June by testimony given by state witnesses. The last man, Oc-tar Howard, was connected with rioting yesterday's testimony when George Nelson, a farmer, said Howard was one of the two men who executed Kenneth McDowell, one of the 35 victims to the spot where his body was found.

Judge Hartwell said he would hear arguments today on the admissibility of testimony given by Nelson. Nelson said he saw Howard and Otis Clark take McDowell from the line of March and lead him into the wood shed, followed Nelson said, and 25 minutes later he found the bodies of McDowell with a bullet hole in the head and two bullet wounds on each side of the head.

LOCAL INCOME TAX OFFICIAL REPORTS FIVE TIMES RETURNS OF LAST YEAR

Five times as many income tax returns were made to the division office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau this year as were made last year, according to report today of B. E. Hitchcock, in charge of the office.

The comparison, while indicating that more people are paying the federal income tax this year than last, also shows that people of western North Dakota appreciate the extablishment of the division office here. Bismarck was made a division office last year through efforts of a number of local citizens and Senator McClure.

FINANCIER IS FOUND DEAD IN RAILROAD CAR

Investigation of Affairs of
L. R. Steel Is Being Conducted

Buffalo, N. Y., Mar. 22.—Leon
R. Steel, founder of the L. R. Steel Corporation, which went into recess March 8, died early today in a train on route to Chicago. Mr.
Steel was advised of her husband's death in a telephone message from Toledo, where the body was taken from the train. Steel's sudden death came on the eve of investigation into the stock selling and other financial methods of his promotion by county and state authorities.

Carl Sherman, state's attorney general, yesterday notified the record that he desired to make a thorough examination of the books of the various steel corporations and Distric Attorney Guy Moore announced la-night that on account of reports of gross extravagance in the handling of the $200,000,000 invested by 50,000 stockholders he would join in the inquiry.

STATE RECORD IS ESTABLISHED

Herd at State Insane Asylum
Makes Fine Showing

What is believed to be a state record for milk production for her of the same size in North Dak-was established at the state hospital for insane at Jamestown, according to W. F. Reynolds, state dairy commissioner, after reading report of J. A. Barner, tester.

"While a few straw producers shed during the month of Febru-the 64 head of Holstein at the hospital were busy making what probably a state record for a
of this size, and were doing it North Dakota grown feeds," said report of Mr. Barner. "These 64 of cows produced an average 1,135 pounds of milk and 38.6 pounof butterfat a cow some 200 age, alfalfa, hay, ground oats, wand ban and about 20 pounds of gels daily. This is considered a remarkable record when one considers that cows in this herd are at different stages of lactation periods nearly every month of the year. It was voted from this that while there are some cows in full flow, others were nearing the end of their lactation period. The highest producer of the month has 1,950 pounds of and 79 pounds of butterfat."

The report added that this is an unusual record, for the herd maintaining this production dur-March.

At present there are two pure sires and 18 pure bred females the hospital herd with about 100 head of high grade females, 24 old or over. During the past slaughtered for use at the institution and 27 head of females sold improve other herds during the year.

1924 ROTARY CONVENTION COMES HERE

FREE DILLAGE IN CANADA IN MURDER CASE

North Dakota Farmer in Alleged Whisky Deal Found
Not Guilty by Jury

RE-ARRESTED AGAIN

Will Face Robbery Charge
Growing Out of Transaction
in Which Man Was Killed

Estevan, Sask., Mar. 22.—Lee Dillage of Lignite, N. D., acquitted of a murder charge late yesterday in connection with the death of Paul Matoff, Regina liquor dealer, on October 4, 1922, today faced trial on a charge of robbery. The additional charge was preferred by the Crown and is also the outgrowth of a liquor transaction, it is alleged.

The jury which acquitted the man of the murder charge was out two hours.

Testimony at the murder trial was to the effect that Matoff was shot and killed shortly after he had concluded a $6,000 liquor transaction with Dillage at Beinfalt, Sask. The money which Dillage paid Matoff was stolen.

The prosecution held that Dillage was a member of the gang which, after purchasing the liquor from Matoff, planned to hold him up and relieve him of the purchase price. William Rhodes, prosecutor, said that it had been shown that some members of the gang came on but there were indications that the plot had not intended the serious consequences which resulted. The date of the robbery trial has not been set.

HOW CASE BROKE DOWN.

Refusal of Mr. Justice Bigelow to admit evidence from E. W. Dickinson, star witness for the crown in the Matoff murder case, deprived those attending the trial of Lee Dillage, charged with being an accessory to the crime.

Dickinson, a warden at the provincial jail, had been called and was about to relate statements Dillage is alleged to have made to him in the conclusion of the preliminary hearing in November last, when N. R. Craig, counsel for the accused, objected. Mr. Craig's objection was that the statements, if any, made by Dillage on the occasion in question, could not have been voluntary, as the witness was then and is now wearing a uniform.

The objection was sustained and Justice Bigelow refused to permit the crown counsel to question the man further. The evidence for the prosecution was then finished. No witnesses were called for the defense.

Dillage had been in jail at Regina since being committed for the alleged killing of Matoff in October. According to Dillage's story, as told to authorities, Matoff was shot by an unidentified man, armed with a sawed off shotgun, and who was the leader of a gang that fled after robbing Matoff of $5,000 and a diamond stick pin valued at about the same amount.

A quantity of the liquor which Dillage is alleged to have been bargaining for was later found on the Dillage farm near Lignite, N. D., where it had been cleverly hidden.

Dillage when in the court room was attentive to the developments of the case. Occasionally he leaned over and conferred with his counsel. He shows the results of the months confinement in jail at Regina, his complexion being whitened and lacking the ruddy hue which appeared when he was taken into custody by the sheriff of Burke county, N. D., and turned over to Canadian authorities.

Clings to Defense.

The killing of Matoff was the sensation of the liquor running era, the victim being a brother-in-law of Brown, man, the supposed head of the liquor supply house, syndicate and the chief source of the border traffic which is supplied to the United States.

Murder, robbery and fraud resulting from bootlegging and whiskey running more than half fill the criminal docket at this time of king's court bench, and promise thrills for spectators for many days. Out of the 13 cases set down for hearing at the session six have their origin somewhere along the blood and tear soaked whiskey trail. The Dillage case, however, is the outstanding event of the session.

In somewhat less degree of interest, but each rich in possibilities of thrills are the four other criminal cases. Thomas Jordan will answer to negotiating a worthless bank check given in a hootch deal. A gang of amateur raiders from Grainsboro will answer to a charge of breaking into the express office and stealing quantities of liquor.

of President of South
Dakota Bank

A jury in federal court today was hearing a case growing out of affairs of Christian Borlander, who was president of the First National bank of Eureka, S. D., August 11, 1920, when he shot himself.

The case, that of Paul Keyes, receiver of the Eureka bank against the Security State Bank of Strasburg, North Dakota, is for $5,000, the amount of a note paid to the Security State bank. A note had been sent to Strasburg and later was taken up with a draft of the Eureka bank. It is claimed by the plaintiff that the note actually was a personal note of Borlander's and that the bank's money was used to pay it.

At the time of the draft payment Borlander's balance in his favor appeared to be about $30,000, but, actually after his death it was found to be overdrawn and Borlander was short in the bank.

The plaintiff is represented by James M. Brown of Aberdeen, and Judge E. T. Burke of Bismarck, while the defendant is represented by J. A. Dunham of Clark, S. D.

Another case, involving a somewhat similar transaction but in amount of $4,000, will also be tried. In this case the First National bank of Linton is defendant.

A jury in the court returned a verdict for the defendant in the case of the Liberty State bank of Minneapolis against the Farmers State bank of Bowman.

Many of the jurors have been excused by Judge Miller and local men called to take their places, the action being taken to permit many jurors to return to their homes.

PETITIONS ARE PREPARED

R. W. Frazier Says Election
Law Petitions to be Circulated Soon

Petitions for a referendum of the two chief election laws of the last general assembly have not yet been actually circulated, but will be in the very near future, R. W. Frazier of Crosby, chairman of the Republican state committee recognized by the Nonpartisans, said here today. Mr. Frazier secured copies of the laws here from the office of the secretary of state and said he would discuss the exact form the petitions should take to be legal with Attorney General Shafer.

Tentative copies of petitions, which had been prepared and forwarded to the office of the secretary of state for approval, were found not to be in the proper form, he said, and for this reason he planned to consult officials before drafting the final form. The tentative copies contained the names of members of a "committee for petitioners," the names being suggested at the Republican executive committee meeting here at which it was decided to inaugurate the referendum, he said. All five men named will be consulted before the final draft is made, and their names will not be retained without their consent, he added.

It is the desire to have the referendum at the election of November, 1924, because the presidential race probably will attract the largest vote possible, Mr. Frazier added.

DEMAND PROBE OF BOOSTS OF SUGAR PRICES

Letter to President Harding
Declares People are to be
Gouged by Half Billion

ASSAILS U.S. DEPARTMENT

Says Bulletin Worded so as to Increase Speculative
Buying

MONTH LATE, HE SAYS.
Washington, March 22.—Demands now being made for an investigation of sugar price fluctuations are "about a month behind," Secretary Hoover said today, adding that such an inquiry had been instituted by the government on March 4.

The secretary said he was convinced there was no economic justification for high prices of sugar, and that the department of commerce and other government departments were investigating conditions in Cuba under authority of law passed in Congress authorizing inquiry into foreign producers of commodities imported.

Washington, Mar. 22.—Demands for an investigation of fluctuations in the sugar market made during the closing days of Congress by western senators were revived today by publication of a letter written to President Harding by Basil Manly, director of the Progressive Bloc in Congress "that as one of the first witnesses the federal grand jury should hear Claud Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers 'aided by the department of commerce' have been enabled to rob the American people of millions of dollars."

"It is suggested," said Mr. Manly, "that the organization was formed by members of the Progressive Bloc in Congress 'that as one of the first witnesses the federal grand jury should hear Claud Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers 'aided by the department of commerce' have been enabled to rob the American people of millions of dollars.'"

Mr. Manly declared the rise in prices had no basis "so far as the public is informed" in a statement issued by the Department of Commerce, which was interpreted "by all the newspapers" as predicting a great shortage of sugar during the coming year and that although Secretary Hoover had declared the statement was misinterpreted the opening sentence was so worded "as to end prices leaping upward."

"Even after this statement had aroused an orgy of speculative activity on the sugar exchange" and its evil effects were known, the statement continued, "the department of commerce further 'balled' the market by issuing a statement directing attention to the increased consumption of sugar in the United States during the past year."

Declaring that an attempt by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, to obtain a senate investigation of sugar prices was blocked by Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican whip, who pleaded investigation by the department of commerce the letter asserted that since that time the department had not intended to make an inquiry and suggested that grand jury should also summon Secretary Mr. Hoover, Senators, Curtis, Hoover and Edge, Republicans, to ascertain "what they knew regarding influences that were exerted to block the senate investigation."

2 FARM HOMES ARE BURNED

Sheldon, N. D., March 22.—The explosion of a cook stove, and an overheated stovepipe started two fires, Monday that destroyed the frame residences of Edward and Louis Austad, brothers, and of Hans Bratland, 13 miles southeast of here.

The Austad brothers are bachelors and live on the farm doing the morning chores and did not discover the fire until it was well under way. They saved only a small amount of wearing apparel and a writing desk. Insurance was carried on both house and contents.

Neighbors were just leaving the fire at the Austad's farm, when the Hans Bratland home, two miles distant, caught fire and they rushed there and succeeded in saving most of the furniture.

Andrew Bratland narrowly escaped burning to death when a part of the roof fell in while he was trying to get the cook stove from the kitchen. He was badly bruised and burned about the head and shoulders. Mr. Bratland carried no insurance.

WORRIES LEAD YOUNG WOMAN TO SUICIDE

Verdict Returned in Coroner's Inquest into Montana
Woman's Case

DRANK POISON IN ROOM

Business Partner in Room
Says He Tried to Prevent the Act

Great Falls, Mont., Mar. 22.—A verdict of suicide by poisoning was returned last night by a coroner's jury that heard evidence relating to the death in a local hotel Monday night of Mrs. Alice Benson, formerly of Pittsfield, Minn.

Mrs. Benson was a business partner in a store at Shelby, Montana, of A. L. Sampson, promoter of the heavy weight championship fight between Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, and Jack Dempsey, July 4, at Shelby, 100 miles north of here.

Mrs. Benson came here from Shelby last Saturday and Sampson arrived Saturday.

The nature of the verdict returned last night was learned from authentic sources but was not given out at the inquest. Newspaper men and spectators were excluded from the inquest room after the evidence was concluded. Sampson was the principal witness at the inquest. He testified that Mrs. Benson drank the poison in her hotel room and that the act was committed before he could interfere. So far as he could determine, he said, there was no reason for her to be despondent other than that she was worried over financial matters. Mrs. Benson was 28 years old.

All Kinds of Smuggling Tricks
Are Used by Germans
To Evade It

Dusseldorf, Mar. 22.—Belgian troops have occupied Krupp harbor at Hohenemmerich on the Rhine near Duisburg for the purpose of controlling exports from this harbor and the collection of the 10 per cent tax on goods shipped.

All kinds of smuggling tricks have been resorted to by the Germans in order to bring money from Berlin into the occupied area. In one instance the French customs authorities at a front post discovered hundreds of notes hidden under shipments of vegetables. The money was confiscated.

Various German government officials, according to the press, are being used to further the passive resistance measures. The French claim the Germans are using the banks and post offices as well as individuals to bring money into the Ruhr. In Dusseldorf the French seized at a postoffice 15,000,000 marks which had been sent there for one of the strike leaders to distribute among the working men under government pay.

Doctor, Facing Trial in Fritzi Mann Murder, Blames "Fool Altruism"

By NEA Service.
San Diego, Calif., March 22.—Good Samaritan to a pretty girl on a perilous byway of love.

Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, 30, debonair captain in the United States Public Health Service at Camp Kearney, will seek to persuade a jury this was his odd role in the case of Fritzi Mann, for whose murder he stands indicted and will go to trial March 26.

"Damned fool altruism," he says, accounted for his interest in the attractive 20-year-old cabaret dancer whose half-clad body was found on the lonely Torrey Pines beach Jan. 15.

For the circumstances shaping the tragedy and for any act leading to her death the army physician has stoutly disclaimed guilt.

Case Circumstantial.
The case against him, so far as it has been divulged by District Attorney Kempey, is wholly circumstantial. He expects to establish an alibi "when the proper time comes."

Prosecution is based on the theory that Miss Mann was stunned by a blow on the head, and was then cast into the sea where she was drowned after brief revival.

She had spent the early part of the previous evening with a man at the Blue Sea cottages in La Jolla. The two had arrived in a closed car and were registered by E. A. Kern, proprietor, as man and wife under fictitious names.

Kern had scrutinized the woman carefully and identified her readily. About the man he was less certain. Miss Mann and her escort left the cabin for an hour, returned and left again for good, Kern will tell the jury.

Possessions Scattered.
The spot where the body was found is 10 miles away. On the road, apparently scattered in flight, were the handbag, vanity case and kimono of the dancer and a blanket from the Blue Sea cottage.

That the pretty entertainer was the victim of her own popularity is the autopsy testimony. She had loved someone not wisely but too well, according to surgeons.

And it was in worry of the consequences that she consulted him, declares Dr. Jacobs. He had, he admitted, advised her about a contemplated operation which was to have taken place a few days after the sea solved her problem. He had also arranged for a nurse, police say.

"I am a friend of the dead girl," the army man told officers the day investigation started. "She had never confided in me. Told me she was secretly married. I went to do what I can to help clear the mystery."

Dr. Jacobs was arrested, released on a writ of habeas corpus, and then secretly indicted two weeks later after Chief of Police Patrick had said to him, "I'm not at all satisfied with what you have told us."

The weakness of the state's case is the professed inability of E. A. Kern positively to identify Jacobs as the man who occupied his cottage with Miss Mann.

Dr. Jacobs' defense weakness lies in failure thus far to substantiate with witnesses his claim that he was at the Grand hotel during the hours fixed by investigators as the death period.

Army friends are strongly aligned behind the Camp Kearney captain and the trial promises to be one of the bitterest contests ever fought in San Diego courts.

Fritzi Mann was born in Austria of Polish-Hungarian parents. She lived in Denver from childhood until about two years ago, when she came to San Diego and Los Angeles.

ASKS $20,000 FOR FALSE ARREST

Grand Forks, N. D., March 21.—T. B. Elton, attorney, left here Monday for St. Paul to appear in district court there this week in defense of an action for $20,000 damages for false imprisonment brought by T. J. McGovern, formerly of Grand Forks, against Dr. E. I. Donovan of Langdon.

The action grows out of the arrest of Mr. McGovern about 18 months ago, upon complaint of Dr. Donovan, who claimed that Mr. McGovern had stolen his grain, containing checks and valuable papers, from the Hotel Dacotah in Grand Forks. Mr. McGovern was arrested at Rochester, Minn., and taken to St. Paul, where he was detained for two days and then released upon the request of Dr. Donovan when it was ascertained that McGovern was not guilty.

LOCAL INCOME TAX OFFICIAL REPORTS FIVE TIMES RETURNS OF LAST YEAR

Five times as many income tax returns were made to the division office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau this year as were made last year, according to report today of B. E. Hitchcock, in charge of the office.

The comparison, while indicating that more people are paying the federal income tax this year than last, also shows that people of western North Dakota appreciate the establishment of the division office here, Bismarck was made a division office last year through efforts of a number of local citizens and Senator McCumber.

It is estimated that 3,000 individual returns on incomes of $5,000 or less were filed here and in addition many corporation and partnership returns.

The division office also is proving of value to local business men and those of other towns in the western part of the state, in that the division office can receive reports on miscellaneous tax payments on the last day of the month. Penalties, which would be occasioned if the returns had to go to Fargo, thus are avoided. The office, it is believed, also has made possible a closer checking up on tax payments by the government, with resultant increases in tax receipts.

Judge Hartwell said he would hear arguments today on the admissibility of testimony given by Nelson. Nelson said he saw Howard and Otis Clark take McDowell from the line of March and lead him into the woods. Shots followed. Nelson said, and 25 minutes later he found the bodies of McDowell with a bullet hole in the head and two bullet wounds on each side of the head.

Investigation of Affairs of
Conducted

Buffalo, N. Y., Mar. 22.—Leonard R. Steel, founder of the L. R. Steel Corporation, which went into receivership March 8, died early today on a train en route to Chicago. Mr. Steel was advised of her husband's death in a telephone message from Toledo, where the body was taken from the train. Steel's sudden death came on the eve of investigation into the stock selling and other financial methods of his promotion by county and state authorities.

Carl Sherman, state's attorney general, yesterday notified the receiver that he desired to make a thorough examination of the books of the various steel corporations and that Attorney Guy Moore announced last night that on account of reports of gross extravagance in the handling of the $20,000,000 invested by 50,000 stockholders he would join in the inquiry.

Herd at State Insane Asylum
Makes Fine Showing

What is believed to be a state record for milk production for herds of the same size in North Dakota was established at the state hospital for the insane at Jamestown, according to W. F. Reynolds, state dairy commissioner, after reading the report of J. A. Barner, tester.

"While a few straw-fed cows perished during the month of February, the 64 head of Holsteins at the state hospital were busy making what is probably a state record for a herd of this size, and were doing it on North Dakota grown feeds," said the report of Mr. Barner. "These 64 head of cows produced an average of 1,136 pounds of milk and 39.6 pounds of butterfat on a ratio not corn silage, alfalfa, hay, ground oats, speltz and bran and about 20 pounds of manure daily. This is considered a remarkable record when one considers that cows in this herd are at different stages of lactation periods nearly every month of the year. It will be voted from this that while there are some cows in full flow, others were nearing the end of their lactation period. The highest production for the month has 1,960 pounds of milk and 79 pounds of butterfat."

The report added that this is not an unusual record, for the herd is maintaining this production during March.

At present there are two pure bred sires and 18 pure bred females at the hospital herd, with about 100 head of high grade females two years old or over. During the past year 24 of the poorest producers were slaughtered for use at the institution and 27 head of females sold to improve other herds during the year.

Jamestown Women Give Party for Service Men

Places were laid for thirty-nine ex-service men at the March birthday party given the men receiving treatment at the state hospital by the Jamestown Auxiliary committee composed of Misses A. L. Knapp, O. C. Womberg, and F. E. Rathman, assisted by Miss Marie Millette, occupational therapy instructor at the institution.

A large birthday cake surmounted with candles formed a center piece on the dining room table. A delightful entertainment feature was a fish pond from which the men fished and were able to make the desired kind of catch since Miss Millette knew the particular article for which they were fishing. Several whistling numbers were given by Rolin Neibauer with his mother, Mrs. Neibauer, as accompanist.

Mrs. Knapp, state hospitalization chairman, gave a very interesting report of the various gifts and remembrances sent to the hospital by various organizations and Auxiliaries. Boxes of candy and cookies were received from Mayville auxiliary as a St. Patrick day treat while a box of cookies and five boxes of candy from the Bimford. A number of useful articles of clothing and pieces for the sick were received. The gift from the local auxiliary consisted of four suits of pajamas for the men. In the pocket of each suit was of note of cheer from the hospitalization committee and the name of the auxiliary making it.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister. Mustard does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders. Gently massage Mustard into the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears. Try Mustard for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (may prevent pneumonia), 35c and 50c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL.
 Harrison Ford, leading man for Helen Jerome Eddy in her first independent starring vehicle released by Film Booking Offices of America and called "When Love Comes," distinguished himself by his brilliant work in the Norma Tallmadge success "Smilin' Through," in which he played opposite the star. "When Love Comes" is announced by the Capitol theater as its feature attraction tonight.

THE ELTINGE.
 Wesley Barry, the juvenile star of screenland come to town for Friday and Saturday appearing at the Eltinge theater in "Rags to Riches." The picture with its wholesomeness and spirit of adventure will go straight to everybody's heart. It is hard to say who will enjoy it most—the young or old, the men or the women.

The picture shows Wes as Marmadue Clarke, son of wealthy parents, who pamper him too much. A burglar, bent upon ransacking the house, gives the lad a chance at action, and he follows the man through a series of exciting episodes, which end unexpectedly with the rounding up of a gang of crooks. But not before Marmadue has found his burglar to be a secret service agent and has witnessed the happy ending of a love episode which at one moment threatened to go wrong.

Announcement.
 I desire to announce my candidacy for the office of Police Magistrate, subject to the will of the voters in the election on April 3. My motto is "A Square Deal to All." Will appreciate your support. W. S. Casselman.

CALIFORNIA NO INDEX TO OTHER STATES

Business Booms Because Outside People go There, Says Col. Little

Conditions in California are no index to those in the rest of the country, Col. C. B. Little, president of the First National Bank, said today upon his return from a several weeks' stay. Los Angeles and vicinity will prosper as long as people with money continue to come in at the rate of 3,000 to 4,000 a day, he said. Col. Little remarked that while people in California believe the condition will continue forever he had never seen a lane without a turning. Business generally is lively at this time, he said, and he also found the mines running full blast about Butte, Montana, on his return.

Col. Little saw many Bismarck people on the trip. James Foley, the poet, he said, was very busy writing a column each day for the Los Angeles Express and a Pasadena paper in addition to his other work. George Little, son of Col. Little, who had been in California for two months, returned with his father. He met many former Bismarck people. Among them were Gordon Downs, who now is employed in the Roselyn hotel office; Earl Haggis, who is living in Houston, Texas, but was in California for a time this winter; Clyde Bonham, who is in Santa Ana, and Robert Dutton, who now is office manager for Noble and company, a large automobile accessory firm Mr. Geo. Little expects to return to California in a short time to engage in business.

E. A. Hughes and Scott Derrick are expected to return about April 1.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womankind. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-oric (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-uric (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

TO BE VIEWED WITH SUSPICION

It would be surprising if the new plan of A. C. Townley were not received with considerable suspicion by farmers and others to whom he appeals. It would be surprising if any new farmers' organizations were not viewed with suspicion at its inception. In the light of past experiences perhaps it would be well if every new farmers' organization had to overcome a very strong distrust with hard facts.

There were scores of farmers' organizations before the Society of Equity was organized with its purpose of promoting cooperative marketing. There were scores of farmers' organizations before the Nonpartisan League rose with its plan of political action. There have been and are now farmers' organizations with purposes embracing the visions of almost every student of farm producing conditions up to this time.

Senator Ladd, in a speech in Bismarck last fall, discussed the Nonpartisan League, the state marketing systems of Australia and New Zealand and the cooperative marketing system of Denmark. Any hearer was convinced that of these the Senator believed the cooperative system of Denmark had proved the most successful. Mr. Townley now proposes a national organization with a plan for controlling prices through the farmers themselves. Is it true, as it appears from the attitude of these men, that they believe the drastic system so ardently urged upon North Dakota for the last six years is recognized as a failure?

A survey of the whole field of endeavor for the producers discloses that of all plans advanced the cooperative system has proved most successful. There are examples of conspicuous success, such as in California, Denmark and in some sections of the tobacco and cotton producing regions of the south. The failures, for the most part, may be traced to bad leadership. This especially appears to be the cause of the difficulties of the Equity marketing organizations. On the other hand, success has come only where the leadership was able and entirely unselfish.

Mr. Townley, it appears, takes the view that success of a farmers' organization will not come through state ownership and management of flour mills nor cooperative ownership of retail stores. He is reported to have said in a speech in South Dakota, to farmers: "You can't farm and run a business, too, and make it a success in competition with men especially trained for that work and with highly developed organizations already functioning." The statement, directed to the subject of cooperative stores, may apply equally to the state milling business in which North Dakota is now engaging, for the state with untrained hands is going into competition with one of the most highly developed businesses of this modern age.

The farmer is treading uncharted lanes when he enters into the store business such as the Brinton cooperative stores. Just so does the average business and professional man find it difficult to make a success of farming when most of his energy is devoted to his business or profession in the city. But as it is the business of the manufacturer to sell his goods as well as to produce them, or the retailer to know how to buy as well as to sell, it is a part of the farmers' business to bend his endeavors toward solving the problem of marketing his own products. It is only because farming is such a vast and diversified business that so little attention has been paid the selling end, or so little progress made. If the energies of leaders of the farming business were devoted toward the improvement of marketing conditions, and if that leadership were unselfish and able, scarce a voice would be raised in North Dakota against them. But if that leadership is to seek only political power or personal profit, and if it is to be bent toward accomplishing objects which do not go to the heart of the problem, the opposition will be keen and vigorous.

The present attitude of Mr. Townley and others argues that the leadership of the farmers in North Dakota in the past has chosen false paths and in such admission justifies the opposition to them. Thus, Mr. Townley need not be surprised if he finds a difficult road in building his new organization with its somewhat theoretical plan of operation, nor should he be disappointed if he finds many who believe that he is more interested in extracting the membership fee than he is in fulfilling the glowing promises made.

WAGES

Can a man be valuable enough to society really to "earn" a salary of $500,000 a year? They're debating this in England. The Socialists say, no. Lord Leverhulme—he's the Henry Ford of England, though he makes soap instead of flivvers—says yes.

Leverhulme is right. For instance—
If some one would invent a furnace that would prevent most of the heat escaping up through the chimney, a reward of $50,000,000 a year for him would not begin to cover his service. And it would be a paying investment for the public.

As far as humanity at large is concerned, one man can be worth more than a million others. Trouble is, the deserving man rarely gets the big reward.

DE FOREST

De Forest is reported ready to market his Phonofilm invention which reproduces sound in perfect synchronization with moving pictures. In other words, talking movies—the sound photographed for reproduction.

Such an invention would have an important place in film-land, particularly movies of historic importance. As for the average movie, considerable of its charm is due to its silence. It reaches us through the eye exclusively. That's what makes it hypnotic.

HOOD

Melle, German prohibitionist, in one week gets 460,000 signatures to a petition asking local option on liquor in Germany. The petition, presented to the Reichstag, makes a sensation.

It's a straw showing how a world wind is blowing.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

TOURISTS

If reading maketh a full man, as that keen observer of men and manners, Francis Bacon, pointed out long ago, it is no less true that travel is one of the best aids to the development of a broad and catholic outlook upon life, and is one of the surest antidotes to provincialism. Nothing perhaps more sharply distinguishes the American of today from his forebear of the year 1800 than the ease and speed with which he can go from one part of the country to the other. A hundred years and more ago the boys who came to Harvard College from Virginia or Kentucky were forced to spend several weeks of laborious stage-coach traveling before he could reach the shelter of the academic hall of Cambridge. The undergraduate of today, on the other hand, can reach Richmond or Louisville in a day or so of travel. So with the tourists of today, contrasted with those who braved the dangers and delays of travel in the early years of the Republic. We have become a nation of vacationists and weekenders. A veritable army of tourists, in train or in automobile, surges from East to West North to South and back again at all seasons of the year. It is a perennial tide; the personnel of that stream changing from month to month, but the stream itself remaining a constant factor. As never before in our history, the people of one part of the country have been enabled to understand their fellow-countrymen elsewhere. Through the multiplication of the means of travel, the fabric of our national life has become more closely knit together than ever before. Literally hundreds of thousands of Americans are a much at home in San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, as they are in New York, Philadelphia or Cleveland.

Nor is this all. At least 200,000 Americans, as estimated, crossed the Atlantic last year to tour one of our own countries of the Old World. As a people we have a desire to explore other continents than our own, to study other peoples than our own. It is the exception, however, rather than the rule, when an American is more familiar with the Old World than he is with the wonders and the beauties of the new. The American who has some familiarity with his own country is all the better fitted thereby to visit with profit Europe, Asia or Africa.—Boston Transcript.

CHUGGING ALONG.

OZONA, TEXAS.
When Lizzie departed her pain fairly shone.
No flivver had more metropolitan tone.

But now, oh, it's awful how shabby she's grown.
Yet still she keeps chugging along.
Going strong,
Cheerfully chugging along!

Her wheels and her fenders are covered with muck
Of one dozen states, and she looks like a truck.
But still, with her most undeniable pluck,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along!

New York and New Jersey and Maryland, too,
The two Carolinas, Virginia—well, you
Could see, if you saw her, what travel can do,
Though Lizzie keeps chugging along.

Like a song,
Peppily plugging along.
There's mud and there's dust Alabama supplied,
We carry much Georgian soil as we ride.

With mud Mississippi took care to provide,
As Lizzie went chugging along.
From Louisiana there's sticky black stuff,
There's Arkansas clay, which is gluey enough.

But though half the roads have been sticky or rough,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along.
The black mud of Texas, the dust of her plains,
Is plastered on Lizzie—and there it remains.

But still, though she's worn out some three sets of chains,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along.
Going strong,
Happily chugging along!

Her curtains are fastened with string and with pins,
She rattles and squeaks as each new day begins,
And yet on her journey she merrily spins,
Miss Lizzie goes chugging along.

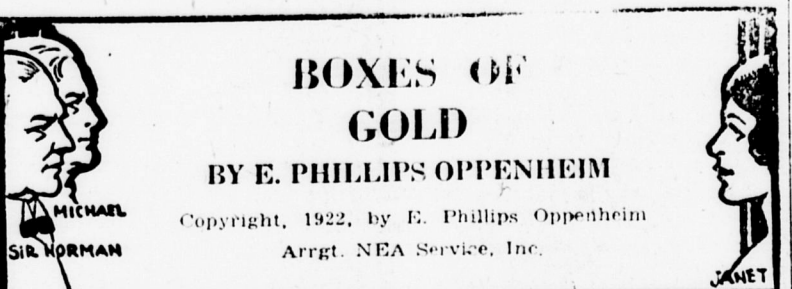

No road is too rough and no mud is too deep,
From crag unto crag she will merrily leap,
At times she can race, and at times she must creep,
But Lizzie goes chugging along.

Yes, somehow she gets there, she'll plough and she'll climb,
When big cars lie down in the snow or the slime,
And we'll get to Frisco O. K. and on time,
As Lizzie keeps chugging along.

Going strong,
Consistently chugging along.

THE MOTHER BIRD

BOXES OF GOLD
BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim

Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. Michael plots with his confederate, the lawyer Youngblood, to rob two men named Gorty and Metzger of seven boxes of gold brought into England for the purpose of establishing private credits. With the aid of two masqueraders, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, supposed to be from South America, Sayers arranges to steal the gold. Madame de Miguel manages a diversion with Metzger and arranges to signal him during her husband's absence from their hotel suite.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY MICHAEL CONTINUES: I moved restlessly, but I think he would not have heard me if I had worn hob-nailed boots. The rest was easy, for it was a trick I knew well. He collapsed with scarcely a gasp. I tightened the cord a little and the deed was done.

GREYES TAKES UP THE STORY: It was entirely by accident that I had dined that night in the grill-room of the Milan Hotel with Rimington. He had asked me for an interview with an urgency, and, being disengaged, I had suggested a little dinner at my club. We had arrived there to find the place packed and the best tables full. Sooner than wait, we had gone to the Milan. Rimington was in the act of disclosing his reason for wishing to see me when the manager, who was an old acquaintance, came across to us.

"I wonder whether you would mind coming upstairs with me for a moment," Sir Norman, he begged. "And you, too, Mr. Rimington. I've just been sent for. Something wrong upstairs."

We rose without hesitation and followed him out of the room, into the lift and up to the sixth floor. When we stepped out, several of the servants were gathered at the farther end of the corridor. The manager embarked upon an explanation. "There may be nothing wrong at all," he said. "This is just the position as it has been reported to me. Suite 80 was taken some days ago by Metzger and Gorty, and two emissaries from our eastern friends, they brought over some gold, as you know, in tin boxes, and greatly against my advice, they had it stored in their rooms. Gorty went to Manchester last night, leaving Metzger alone. Our telephone operator reported that he refused to answer the telephone about half an hour ago. We sent up to his room and found it bolted on the inside. We rang and knocked without the slightest result. Finally we entered the suite through the adjoining room, which had just been vacated, and found that although the outer door was bolted on the inside, the suite was empty. Further, the tin boxes of gold had gone."

"Interesting," Rimington murmured, "very!"

The manager led us along the corridor, through and found that although the outer door was bolted on the inside, the suite was empty. Further, the tin boxes of gold had gone."

"Is there any reason to suppose," I asked, "that this man Metzger has not taken away the gold himself?"

"In that case," the manager pointed out, "some one would have had to carry the cases downstairs. No one has done so. No one has seen Metzger leave the place."

"We are to presume," I asked, "that he's still in the hotel?"

"Precisely!"

"You have had him searched for?"

"Half a dozen men have searched every corner of the place. No one in the hotel has even caught a glimpse of him."

I went through the rooms again. When I came to the bedroom adjoining the sitting-room, and which the floor waiter told me was Metzger's, I noticed that the wardrobe was locked. Not only that, but there was a slight strain being exercised against the lock, lending the panel slightly. For the first time I began to look upon the matter as serious.

"This door must be broken open quickly," I insisted, "for a spare key found."

The key from the wardrobe in Gorty's room was tried with success. As it was turned, the door flew open. I was just in time to catch in my arms a crumpled mass of clothes and humanity. With a blackened face and protruding eyes, his tongue lolling out on one side, it was still difficult to recognize from his pictures the man who had refused to answer the telephone.

"My God!" Rimington exclaimed. "He's very near it," I replied, loosening the slip-knot of his necktie around his neck. "Send for a doctor at once—And Rimington, you had better ring up the Yard and get to work quickly."

"How long ago did those people leave?" he asked. "And what luggage did they take with them?"

"They left an hour ago," the floor waiter answered. "They had two very heavy trunks."

"The affair appears to solve itself," Rimington muttered after he had spoken a few hasty words down the telephone.

The floor waiter, who was an intelligent fellow, followed us into the other room, to which we had withdrawn on the arrival of the despatch. "There is one thing I ought to tell you, sir," he said. "The porters tried to move those trunks several hours ago, while Mr. Metzger was busy writing in his room. They were too heavy then—and at this time the tin cases were still in Mr. Gorty's room."

"You are sure of that?" Rimington asked.

"Absolutely, sir."

Rimington looked around. I could see that the same thought had occurred to him as to me. The briefest of searches confirmed our suspicion. The wardrobe was filled with humps of heavy stone.

"There is only one point now remaining to be solved," I observed, "and that is, did those two, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, carry out this little affair entirely alone, or had they accomplices?"

"They had a visitor about an hour before they left, sir," the floor waiter told us.

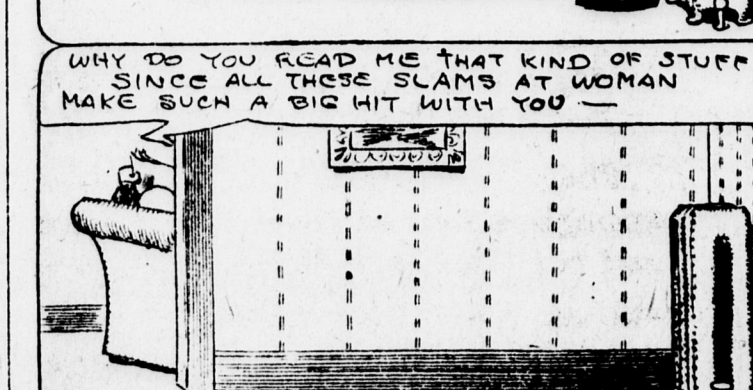

Rimington took out his notebook. "Description, please," he asked. "I scarcely saw the gentleman myself, sir," the man replied. "He seemed quite ordinary-looking. He wore glasses, and his hair was gray."

"Well," Rimington said, as we descended to the ground floor to meet the men whom he had summoned from Scotland Yard, "we get it in the neck sometimes about our failures. This time, if we don't get hold of De Miguel and his heavy trunks, I should think we deserve all the censure we get."

"Nothing in it for me, I'm afraid,"

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

I remarked as I bade him good night. "It doesn't look like it," he admitted. "However, one never knows."

It was the unexpected which happened. Although Mr. Jose de Miguel and his wife could have had barely an hour's start, and were handicapped by the possession of two trunks of enormous weight, a week passed without any news of their arrest or of the recovery of any part of the gold. Metzger remained in a state of partial unconsciousness and could give no coherent account of what had happened. Gorty returned from Manchester and behaved like a madman. He spent his time twice down Downing Street where he boldly accused the Government of having taken the gold, and Scotland Yard, where he expressed his opinion of the English police system in terms which made him, to say the least of it, unpopular there. In the beginning the whole affair had seemed so simple. Mr. and Mrs. de Miguel, distributing gratuities in most lavish fashion, had driven calmly away from the Milan at the appointed hour, and had arrived at Waterloo in ample time for the train which they had planned to take to Southampton. When that train arrived at Southampton, however, there was no one in it in the least answering to their description; neither had any rooms been taken in the hotel, or passages booked on the steamer. Curiously enough, too, none of the porters could remember handling any particularly heavy luggage for that train, or attending upon any passengers answering to the description of the two missing people; yet the man who drove the half bus to the station, an air of a man of excellent character, gave unflinching evidence as to his having driven there, and having left his two passengers waiting on the pavement while a porter went for a barrow.

I went away from Rimington for some time, for I thoroughly sympathized with his position. On the tenth day, however, he came to see me.

"Not so simple as we thought," he remarked as he accepted a cigar and an easy chair.

"Apparently not," I assented. "What about the bus-driver?"

"He's been with the hotel company for 17 years," Rimington replied. "Has a wife and children and an excellent character. Besides, a score of people saw the bus in the station-yard."

"And the man who visited them at the hotel at the last moment?"

"We're offering a hundred pounds reward for his discovery. Here's his description."

I carefully read the type-written sheet which Rimington pushed to me, and returned it in silence.

"Suggest anything to you?" my visitor asked.

"The description might apply to thousands," I answered a little evasively. Rimington stared gloomily into the distance.

"It might," he admitted. "Do you know who I think it was?"

"No idea," I answered mendaciously.

"Your friend Pugsley—Stanfield, or to go behind all his aliases and call him by his rightful name, Michael Sayers."

"Do you really believe that that man is in England?" I asked.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Twins climbed Cream-Puff Hill on their way to the Cut-Out Lady's house in Sugar-Puff Land. "Who goes there?" cried a gruff voice.

"Us!" said Nick. "What's that?" asked Nancy, correcting him. "Well, hurry up and make up your minds, said the voice. 'Who is it, 'Us' or 'We'?"

"Both!" answered the Twins. "Ah, ha! Another one! That makes three! Us, We and Both. Give the countersign!"

"What's that?" asked Nancy. "What? Don't you know what a countersign is? Its the sign you give over the counter in the pastry shop when you want doughnuts or pretzels or coffee-cake or ladyfinger?"

"And a chocolate soldier poked his head up over the top of Cream-Puff Hill. He had a lemon stick gun over his shoulder. "Which of you is 'Us' and which of you is 'We' and where is 'Both'?" he asked.

"Oh, you've got us all mixed up," cried Nancy. "Please let us past."

"No! until you give the countersign," said the soldier in a determined voice. "We don't know it!" said Nick. "All right! I'll tell you! It's 'Gumdrops.' Just say 'Gumdrops' and I'll let you past."

"Gumdrops!" said Nancy and Nick together. The chocolate soldier stepped aside and they went over the hill. "Where are you going?" called the chocolate soldier.

"To the Cut-Out Lady's house," answered Nick. "Tell her I need a new suit of chocolate clothes, please," said the soldier. "Every time the knick knacks are out for a walk they give me a lick as they go by and my clothes are nearly gone. Soon I'll be naked."

"Well! tell her!" promised Nancy. "Thank you," said the chocolate soldier. And he marched down the other side of Cream-Puff Hill until nothing could be seen of him but the tip of his lemon stick gun. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

Try This

Income tax returns were filed recently enough to leave a vivid recollection of the annoyances experienced in making up the report if no record was kept of the year's transactions.

Wouldn't you welcome a chance to utilize some system of accounts that was simple and accurate, yet complete enough to yield the necessary information concerning cash receipts and disbursements made in the conduct of your affairs.

A checking account will do this. Each month the bank gives a statement of account consisting of an itemized list of deposits and withdrawals made, together with the cancelled vouchers showing to whom payment was made. By preserving these statements, a clear and concise record of the cash transactions that have taken place during the course of the year can be obtained. For the individual who does not keep books, this record will prove invaluable for income tax purposes.

This service can be obtained at no cost to yourself. Why not take advantage of it?

Try This

Income tax returns were filed recently enough to leave a vivid recollection of the annoyances experienced in making up the report if no record was kept of the year's transactions.

Wouldn't you welcome a chance to utilize some system of accounts that was simple and accurate, yet complete enough to yield the necessary information concerning cash receipts and disbursements made in the conduct of your affairs.

A checking account will do this. Each month the bank gives a statement of account consisting of an itemized list of deposits and withdrawals made, together with the cancelled vouchers showing to whom payment was made. By preserving these statements a clear and concise record of the cash transactions that have taken place during the course of the year can be obtained. For the individual who does not keep books, this record will prove invaluable for income tax purposes.

This service can be obtained at no cost to yourself. Why not take advantage of it?

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)
TO BE VIEWED WITH SUSPICION
It would be surprising if the new plan of A. C. Townley were not received with considerable suspicion by farmers and others to whom he appeals. It would be surprising if any new farmers' organizations were not viewed with suspicion at its inception. In the light of past experiences perhaps it would be well if every new farmers' organization had to overcome a very strong distrust with hard facts.
There were scores of farmers' organizations before the Society of Equity was organized with its purpose of promoting cooperative marketing. There were scores of farmers' organizations before the Nonpartisan League rose with its plan of political action. There have been and are now farmers' organizations with purposes embracing the visions of almost every student of farm producing conditions up to this time.
Senator Ladd, in a speech in Bismarck last fall, discussed the Nonpartisan League, the state marketing systems of Australia and New Zealand and the cooperative marketing system of Denmark. Any hearer was convinced that of these the Senator believed the cooperative system of Denmark had proved the most successful. Mr. Townley now proposes a national organization with a plan for controlling prices through the farmers themselves. Is it true, as it appears from the attitude of these men, that they believe the drastic system so ardently urged upon North Dakota for the last six years is recognized as a failure?
A survey of the whole field of endeavor for the producers discloses that of all plans advanced the cooperative system has proved most successful. There are examples of conspicuous success, such as in California, Denmark and in some sections of the tobacco and cotton producing regions of the south. The failures, for the most part, may be traced to bad leadership. This especially appears to be the cause of the difficulties of the Equity marketing organizations. On the other hand, success has come only where the leadership was able and entirely unselfish.
Mr. Townley, it appears, takes the view that success of a farmers' organization will not come through state ownership and management of flour mills nor cooperative ownership of retail stores. He is reported to have said in a speech in South Dakota, to farmers: "You can't farm and run a business, too, and make it a success in competition with men especially trained for that work and with highly developed organizations already functioning." The statement, directed to the subject of cooperative stores, may apply equally to the state milling business in which North Dakota is now engaging, for the state with untrained hands is going into competition with one of the most highly developed businesses of this modern age.
The farmer is treading uncharted lakes when he enters into the store business such as the Brinton cooperative stores. Just so does the average business and professional man find it difficult to make a success of farming when most of his energy is devoted to his business or profession in the city. But as it is the business of the manufacturer to sell his goods as well as to produce them, or the retailer to know how to buy as well as to sell, it is a part of the farmers' business to bend his endeavors toward solving the problem of marketing his own products. It is only because farming is such a vast and diversified business that so little attention has been paid the selling end, or so little progress made. If the energies of leaders of the farming business were devoted toward the improvement of marketing conditions, and if that leadership were unselfish and able, scarce a voice would be raised in North Dakota against them. But if that leadership is to seek only political power or personal profit, and if it is to be bent toward accomplishing objects which do not go to the heart of the problem, the opposition will be keen and vigorous.
The present attitude of Mr. Townley and others argues that the leadership of the farmers in North Dakota in the past has chosen false paths and in such admission justifies the opposition to them. Thus, Mr. Townley need not be surprised if he finds a difficult road in building his new organization with its somewhat theoretical plan of operation, nor should he be disappointed if he finds many who believe that he is more interested in extracting the membership fee than he is in fulfilling the glowing promises made.

WAGES
Can a man be valuable enough to society really to "earn" a salary of $500,000 a year? They're debating this in England. The Socialists say, no. Lord Leverhulme—he's the Henry Ford of England, though he makes soap instead of flivvers—says yes.
Leverhulme is right. For instance—
If some one would invent a furnace that would prevent most of the heat escaping up through the chimney, a reward of $50,000,000 a year for him would not begin to cover his service. And it would be a paying investment for the public.
As far as humanity at large is concerned, one man can be worth more than a million others. Trouble is, the deserving man rarely gets the big reward.

DE FOREST
De Forest is reported ready to market his Phonofilm invention which reproduces sound in perfect synchronization with moving pictures. In other words, talking movies—the sound photographed for reproduction.
Such an invention would have an important place in film-land, particularly movies of historic importance. As for the average movie, considerable of its charm is due to its silence. It reaches us through the eye, exclusively. That's what makes it hypnotic.

HOCH
Melle, German prohibitionist, in one week gets 460,000 signatures to a petition asking local option on liquor in Germany. The petition, presented to the Reichstag, makes a sensation.
It's a straw showing how a world wind is blowing.

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.
If reading maketh a full man, as that keen observer of men and manners, Francis Bacon, pointed out long ago, it is no less true that travel is one of the best aids to the development of a broad and catholic outlook upon life, and is one of the surest antidotes to provincialism. Nothing perhaps more sharply distinguishes the American of today from his forebears of the year 1800 than the ease and speed with which he can go from one part of the country to the other. A hundred years and more ago the boys who came to Harvard College from Virginia or Kentucky were forced to spend several weeks of laborious stage coach traveling before he could reach the shores of the academic hall of Cambridge. The undergraduate of today, on the other hand, can reach Richmond or Louisville in a day or so of travel. So with the tourists of today, contrasted with those who braved the dangers and delays of travel in the early years of the Republic. We have become a nation of vacationists and week-enders. A veritable army of tourists, in train or in automobile, surges from East to West North to South and back again at all seasons of the year. It is a perennial idea, the pet annual of that stream changing from month to month, but the stream itself running a constant factor. As never before in our history, the people of one part of the country have been enabled to understand their fellow-countrymen elsewhere. Through the multiplication of the means of travel, the fabric of our national life has become more closely knit together than ever before. Literally hundreds of thousands of Americans are at a much at home in San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, as they are in New York, Philadelphia or Cleveland.
Nor is this all. At least 200,000 Americans are estimated, crossed the Atlantic last year to tour one or more countries of the Old World. As a people we have a desire to explore other continents than our own, to study other peoples than our own. It is the exception, however, rather than the rule, when an American is more familiar with the Old World than he is with the wonders and the beauties of the new. The American who has some familiarity with his own country is all the better fitted thereby to visit with profit Europe, Asia or Africa. Boston Transcript.

CHUGGING ALONG.
OZONA, TEXAS.
When Lizzie departed her pain faded, she shone.
No Lizzie had more metropolitan tone.
But now, oh, it's awful how shabby she's grown.
Yet still she keeps chugging along, going strong, cheerfully chugging along!
Her wheels and her fenders are caked with mud.
Or one dozen states, and she looks like a truck.
But still, with her most undeniable pluck,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along.
New York and New Jersey and Maryland, too.
The two Carolinas, Virginia—well, you know.
Could see, if you saw her, what travel can do.
Though Lizzie keeps chugging along.
Like a song,
Poppily plugging along.
There's mud and there's dust, Alabama applied.
We carry much Georgian soil as we ride.
With mud Mississippi took care to provide.
As Lizzie went chugging along.
From Louisiana there's sticky black stuff.
There's Arkansas clay, which is grey enough,
But though half the roads have been sticky or rough,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along.
The black mud of Texas, the dust of her plains,
Is plastered on Lizzie—and there it remains.
But still, though she's worn out some three sets of chains,
Miss Lizzie keeps chugging along.
Going strong,
Happily chugging along!
Her curtains are fastened with string and with pins.
She rattles and squeaks as each new day begins.
And get on her journey she merrily spins.
Miss Lizzie goes chugging along.
No road is too rough and no mud is too deep.
From crag unto crag she will merrily leap.
At times she can race, and at times she must creep,
But Lizzie goes chugging along.
Yes, somehow she gets there, she'll plough and she'll climb.
When big cars lie down in the snow or the slime,
And we'll get to Frisco O. K. and on time.
As Lizzie keeps chugging along.
Going strong,
Consistently chugging along.

"How long ago did those people leave?" he asked. "And what luggage did they take with them?"
"They left an hour ago," the floor waiter answered. "They had two very heavy trunks."
"The affair appears to solve itself," Rimmington muttered after he had spoken a few hasty words down the telephone.
The floor waiter, who was an intelligent fellow, followed us into the other room, to which we had withdrawn on the arrival of the doctor.
"There is one thing I ought to tell you, sir," he said. "The porter tried to move those trunks several hours ago, while Mr. Metzger was busy writing in his room. They were too heavy then—and at this time the tin cases were still in Mr. Gorley's room."
"You are sure of that?" Rimmington asked.
"Absolutely, sir."
Rimmington looked around. I could see that the same thought had occurred to him as to me. The briefest of searches confirmed our suspicions. The wardrobe was filled with lapses of heavy stone.
"There is only one point now remaining to be solved," I observed. "And that is, did these two, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, carry out this little affair entirely alone, or had they accomplices?"
"They had a visitor about an hour before they left, sir," the floor waiter told us.
Rimmington took out his notebook.
"Description, please," he asked.
"I scarcely saw the gentleman myself, sir," the man replied. "He seemed quite ordinary-looking. He wore glasses, and his hair was gray."
"Well," Rimmington said, as we descended to the ground floor to meet the men whom he had summoned from Scotland Yard, "we get it in the rock sometimes about our fathers. This time, if we don't get hold of De Miguel and his heavy trunks, I should think we deserve all the censure we get."
"Nothing in it for me, I'm afraid," Rimmington said.

"Absolutely, sir."
Rimmington looked around. I could see that the same thought had occurred to him as to me. The briefest of searches confirmed our suspicions. The wardrobe was filled with lapses of heavy stone.
"There is only one point now remaining to be solved," I observed. "And that is, did these two, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel, carry out this little affair entirely alone, or had they accomplices?"
"They had a visitor about an hour before they left, sir," the floor waiter told us.
Rimmington took out his notebook.
"Description, please," he asked.
"I scarcely saw the gentleman myself, sir," the man replied. "He seemed quite ordinary-looking. He wore glasses, and his hair was gray."
"Well," Rimmington said, as we descended to the ground floor to meet the men whom he had summoned from Scotland Yard, "we get it in the rock sometimes about our fathers. This time, if we don't get hold of De Miguel and his heavy trunks, I should think we deserve all the censure we get."
"Nothing in it for me, I'm afraid," Rimmington said.

I remarked as I bade him good night.
"It doesn't look like it," he admitted. "However, one never knows."
It was the unexpected which happened. Although Mr. Jose de Miguel and his wife could have had barely an hour's start, and were handicapped by the possession of two trunks of enormous weight, a well-timed without any news of their arrest or of the recovery of any part of the gold, Metzger remained in a state of partial unconsciousness and could give no coherent account of what had happened. Gorty returned from Manchester and behaved like a midman. He spent his time between Downing Street, where he boldly accused the Government of having taken the gold, and Scotland Yard, where he expressed his opinion of the English police system in terms which made him, to say the least of it, unpopular there. In the beginning the whole affair had seemed so simple. Mr. and Mrs. de Miguel, distributing gratuities in most lavish fashion, had driven calmly away from the Milan at the appointed hour, and had arrived at Waterloo in ample time for the train which they had planned to take to Southampton. When that train arrived at Southampton, however, there was no one in it in the least answering to their description; neither had any rooms been taken in the hotel, or passages booked on the steamer. Curiously enough, too, none of the porters could remember handling any particularly heavy luggage for that train, or of seeing any passengers answering to the description of the two missing people; yet the man who drove the hotel bus to the station—an old servant and a man of excellent character—gave unflinching evidence as to his having driven there, and having left his two passengers waiting on the pavement while a porter went for a hansom.
I went away from Rimmington for some time, for I thoroughly sympathized with his position. On the tenth day, however, he came to see me.
"Not so simple as we thought," he remarked as he accepted a cigar and a easy chair.
"Apparently not," I assented.
"What about the bus-driver?"
"He's been with the hotel company for 17 years," Rimmington replied. "has a wife and children and an excellent character. Besides, a score of people saw the bus in the station."
"And the man who visited them at the hotel at the last moment?"
"We're offering a hundred pounds reward for his discovery. Here's his description."
I carefully read the type-written sheet which Rimmington pushed across to me, and returned it in silence.
"Suggest anything to you?" my visitor asked.
"The description might apply to thousands," I answered a little evasively. Rimmington stared gloomily into the fire.
"It might," he admitted. "Do you know who I think it is?"
"No idea," I answered mendaciously.
"Your friend Pugsley—Stanfield, or to go behind all his aliases, and call him by his rightful name, Michael Sayers."
"Do you really believe that that man is in England?" I asked.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
The Twins climbed Cream-Puff Hill on their way to the Cut-Out Lady's house in Sugar-Plum Land. "Who goes there?" cried a gruff voice.
"Us!" said Nick.
"Well, hurry up and make up your minds," said the voice. "Who is it, Us?"
"Both!" answered the Twins.
"Ah, ha! Another one! That makes three! Us, We and Both. Give the counterpane."
"What's that?" asked Nancy.
"What? Don't you know what a counterpane is? Its the sign you give over the counter in the pantry shop when you want doughnuts or pretzels or coffee-cake or ladyfinger?" And a chocolate soldier poked his head up over the top of Cream-Puff Hill. He had a lemon stick over his shoulder.
"Which of you is 'Us' and which of you is 'We' and where is 'Both'?" he asked.
"Oh, you've got us all mixed up," cried Nancy. "Please let us pass."
"Not until you give the counterpane," said the soldier in a determined voice.
"We don't know it!" said Nick.
"All right! I'll tell you! It's 'Gumdrops.' Just say 'Gumdrops' and I'll let you pass."
"Gumdrops!" said Nancy and Nick together.
The chocolate soldier stepped aside and they went over the hill.
"Where are you going?" called the chocolate soldier.
"To the Cut-Out Lady's house," answered Nick.
"Tell her I need a new suit of chocolate clothes, please," said the soldier. "Every time the knick knacks are out for a week they give me a lick as they go by and my clothes are nearly gone. Soon I'll be naked."
"We'll tell her!" promised Nancy.
"Thank you," said the chocolate soldier. And he marched down the other side of Cream-Puff Hill until nothing could be seen of him but the top of his lemon stick gun.

SONGS MAKE BIG HIT

Cast of Characters Show
Adaptation to Parts
Portrayed

Some novel lighting effects and stage scenery were outstanding features in the play "One Girl in a Million" presented by Company A, N. D. National Guard under the direction of Geo. A. Childs of Chicago, Ill., before a well filled auditorium last evening.

A really charming scene was the moonlight scene in which H. H. Fennell sang "My Maid in the Moon," from "The Cat and the Fiddle," while petite Mary Bankston seated upon a glowing half moon made a picture to inspire the singer.

Another pretty effect was produced by electrically lighted grape vine swings in which were seated two charming young ladies, Miss Lillian Rigler, and Miss Hazel Pierce supported by Kenneth Preston and John McGowan singing "Swing Me in a Grape Vine Swing."

Probably one of the most enticing songs in the entire play was that in which Lillian Rigler and chorus sang "So Long Mary."

The play itself was interesting and the selection of characters to take the various parts appeared to have been carefully worked out. Tyler Kludt as Kid Burns, private secretary to the honorable Mr. Bennett, caught the sympathy of his audience when he first appeared on the stage as a rather unusual secretary in that his English was not of the classic kind, nor could the slang throwing New Yorker understand the English of his associates any more than they could comprehend his unusual expressions which brought him a number of laughs from the audience.

John McGowan took the part of Thomas Bennett, heir to the late Cornelius Castleton, and fiancé of the "One Girl in a Million" which was played charmingly by Miss Hazel Peirce. While taking the part of a schemer and trickster, Daniel Cronin, Roy Kuntz handled his part in appropriate style. Terrance Halloran, as Andy Grey, servant of the late Mr. Castleton, played his part with finesse, being one of the actors who appeared to mould his part to himself.

George Schmidt, sergeant of police, was an adept with the billy club, probably standing out as a model in the art of shoving people into their places at crossings and crowded places. Henry Annan helped make the play round out by playing an inconspicuous part, that of the footman, in correct footman style, and V. A. Yeager, as station agent, made a good appearance when he appeared on the stage.

The four newspaper reporters, Valentine Yeager of "The World," O. H. Haggard of "The Telegraph," A. O. Johnson of "The Herald," and Laurence Wyciskala of "The Sun," who appeared to report nothing except their names and their rank were the delight of the stage reporter with a huge note book and pencil always poised for writing.

A leading female part was taken by Lillian Rigler as Mary, servant of the late Mr. Castleton. She was charming as the heroine for the wild kid and presented the part of a delightful little mix perfectly. Margaret MacDonald as Mrs. Purdy, a friend of the late Mr. Castleton, commenced to "spill tears" at the recollections and tender remembrances of her dear friend in the opening of the play and continued to do so until the end was reached. Her wails were so real that they were hypocritical. She was a second Niagara Falls.

Flora Dora Dean, Tom's fiancée portrayed the part of a charming sweet daughter who does just as mama tells. With Isabel Cochrane as Mrs. Daniel Dean, intended mother-in-law of Tom Bennett, they played like a real mother and daughter.

The parts of the girls of the village were taken by the following girls:

Misses Esther Katz, Audrey Flow, Louise Berndt, Gwendolyn Jones, Hilda Huithberg, Clara Huithberg, Ellen Hall, Mary Hassel, Mary Cayou, Ruth Rawlings, Catherine McLaughlin, Mable Rigler, Evelyn George, Clara Sperry, etc.

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face? Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

An enjoyable part of the evening's entertainment consisted of the musical numbers between acts. John McGowan was warmly received when he sang "Just Plant a Kiss." Miss Lillian Rigler sang "Mary's a Grand Old Name," from "45 Minutes from Broadway," Tyler Kludt sang "45 Minutes from Broadway," George A. Childs and chorus, "There Must Be Little Cupids in the Briny," Miss Rigler, "Just a Wearying for you," and Mr. Childs was cheered when he sang "The Sleepy Rag," and the quartet composed of Miss Rigler and Miss Peirce, Mr. McGowan, and Mr. Preston sang "Love Sends a Little Gift of Rose."

Some closed car bodies are put together cheaply with shoddy materials to give temporary satisfaction. Studebaker builds—and sells—with the distinct purpose in mind of making permanent Studebaker customers. This Sedan body is so substantially constructed that it will stand up, under hard service, year after year.

In buying a closed car remember: there is no substitute for quality. It's a good plan to buy where they follow this theory. We honestly believe that better materials or workmanship cannot be obtained at any price.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT AGAIN GOES UPWARD ON CHI. BOARD

Offering Readily Absorbed in Early Dealings There Today

Chicago, Mar. 22.—Wheat scored fresh gains today during the early dealings. Offerings were readily absorbed and with indication of buying on the part of the foreigners the market rallied. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 cents lower, with May, $1.21 1/2 to $1.21 3/4 and July, $1.16 1/2 to $1.16 3/4, were followed by a rise all round to well above yesterday's finish.

NOVEL STAGE SETTINGS ARE PLAY FEATURE

Company A Play Is Presented Before Well Filled Auditorium

SONGS MAKE BIG HIT

Cast of Characters Show Adaptation to Parts Portrayed

Some novel lighting effects and stage scenery is to be outstanding feature of the play "One Girl in a Million" presented by Company A, N. D. National Guard under the direction of Geo. A. Childs, of Chicago. It is before a well filled auditorium last evening.

A really charming scene was the moonlight scene in which H. H. Johnson of "The Herald," and Lawrence Wyciskala of "The Sun," who appeared to report nothing except their names and their rank were the usual delightful stage reporter with a huge note book and pencil always poised for writing.

A leading female part was taken by Lillian Rigler as Mary, servant of the late Mr. Castleton. She was charming as the heroine for the wild kid and presented the part of a delightful little miss perfectly. Margaret MacDonald as Mrs. Parry, a friend of the late Mr. Castleton, commenced to "spit tears" at the recollections and tender remembrances of her dear friend in the opening of the play and continued to do so until the end was reached. Her wails were so real that they were hypocritical. She was a second Niagara Falls.

Flora Dora Duan, Tom's fiancée, portrayed the part of a charming sweet daughter who does just as mama tells. With Isabel Cochran as Mrs. Daniel Plant, intended mother-in-law of Tom Bennett, they played like a real mother and daughter.

The parts of the girls of the village were taken by the following girls:

Misses Esther Katz, Audrey Flow, Louise Berndt, Gwendolyn Jones, Hilda Hultberg, Clara Hultberg, Ellen Hall, Mary Hassel, Mary Cayou, Ruth Rawlings, Catherine McLaughlin, Mable Rigler, Evelyn George, Clara Sperry, etc.

Another pretty effect was produced by electrically lighted grape vine signs in which were seated two charming young ladies, Miss Lillian Rigler, and Miss Hazel Pierce supported by Kenneth Preston and John McGowan singing "Swing Me in a Grape Vine Swing."

Probably one of the most enthralling songs in the entire play was that in which Lillian Rigler and chorus sang "Long Mary."

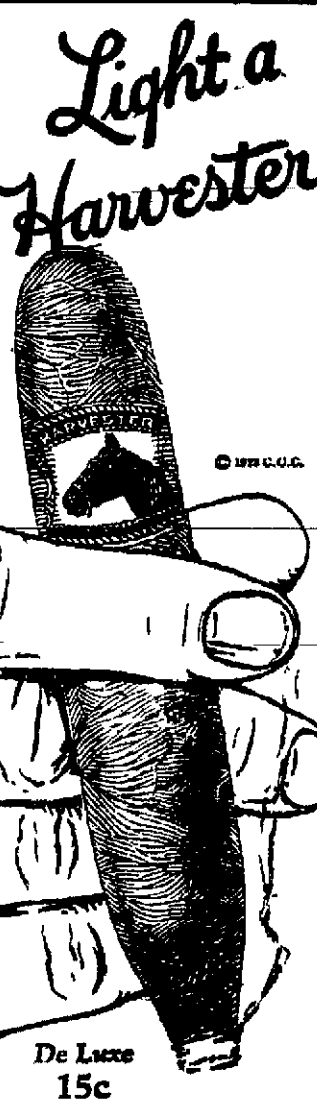

The play itself was interesting and the selection of characters to take the various parts appeared to have been carefully worked out. Tyler Kludt as Kid Burt, private secretary to the honorable Mr. Bennett, caught the sympathy of his audience when he first appeared on the stage as a rather unusual secretary in that his English was not of the classic kind, nor could the slang throwing New York under the English of his associates any more than they could comprehend his unusual expressions which brought him a number of laughs from the audience.

John McGowan took the part of Thomas Bennett, heir to the late Cornelius Castleton, and fiancé of the "One Girl in a Million" which was played charmingly by Miss Hazel Pierce. While taking the part of a schemer and trickster Daniel Cronin, Ray Kuntz handled his part in appropriate style. Ferrance Halloran as Andy Grey, servant of the late Mr. Castleton, played his part with fine sense being one of the actors who appeared to mould his part to himself.

George Schmidt, sergeant of police, was in adept with the billy club, probably standing out as a model on the lot of shoving people into their places at crossings and crowded places. Henry Annan helped make the play round out by playing an inconspicuous part that of the footman in correct footman style and A. A. Yeager as station agent, made a good appearance when he appeared on the stage.

entire Yeager of "The World," O. H. Haggard of "The Telegraph," A. U. Johnson of "The Herald," and Lawrence Wyciskala of "The Sun," who appeared to report nothing except their names and their rank were the usual delightful stage reporter with a huge note book and pencil always poised for writing.

FRECKLE-FACE

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

An enjoyable part of the evening's entertainment consisted of the musical numbers between acts. John McGowan was warmly received when he sang "Just Plant a Kiss." Miss Lillian Rigler sang "Mary's a Grand Old Name," from "45 Minutes from Broadway." Tyler Kludt sang "45 Minutes from Broadway, George A. Childs and chorus, "There Must be Little Cupids in the Briney," Miss Rigler, "Just a Wearying for you," and Mr. Childs was encored when he sang "The Sleepy Rag," and the quartet composed of Miss Rigler and Miss Pearce, Mr. McGowan, and Mr. Preston sang "Love Sends a Little Gift of Rose."

DUIS LEAVES FOR WICHITA

Grand Forks, Mar. 22.—Geo. E. Duis, president of the North Dakota Wheat Growers' association, left yesterday for Wichita, Kansas, to be present at a meeting March 23 of representatives of at least five wheat growing states of the middle-west for the purpose of considering and ratifying the proposed constitution and by-laws for the newly organized American Wheat Growers Association.

The proposed plan to organization will be submitted to these representatives by the committee of three, consisting of Mr. Duis, Geo. C. Jewett of Minneapolis, and W. H. McGreevy of Carmen, Oklahoma, which was appointed last December to form a constitution and by-laws for the new organization, during a meeting called at Minneapolis by the Northwest Wheat Growers Association for the purpose of discussing a national amalgamation of wheat growers.

STUDEBAKER

$1550

The Fastest Selling Quality Sedan in the World

The Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is the best looking, longest lasting, easiest riding closed car ever offered for $1550—or anywhere near that figure.

Its high quality has made it the fastest selling six-cylinder Sedan in the world. Big volume has made the price low—the lowest at which you can buy a real high grade closed car.

There's as much difference in closed car bodies as there is between hardwood and wall board.

Some closed car bodies are put together cheaply with shoddy materials to give temporary satisfaction. Studebaker builds—and sells—with the distinct purpose in mind of making permanent Studebaker customers. This Sedan body is so substantially constructed that it will stand up, under hard service, year after year.

In buying a closed car remember: there is no substitute for quality. It's a good plan to buy where they follow this theory. We honestly believe that better materials or workmanship cannot be obtained at any price.

The name Studebaker is assurance of satisfaction.

Four wide-opening doors. Eight-day clock. Quick-action coil ventilator. Attractive coach lamps. Heater. Motorized plush upholstery. Glass-protected view and windshield cleaner. Theft-proof crankshaft lock. Dome light.

COURT AGAIN IS BUSY AFTER SHARPCORNER

Must Have Cases Ready if Jury is to be Held, Judge
Jansonius Says

District court was busy again today after Judge Jansonius read "the riot act" yesterday. Finding no cases ready for trial at the time, although there is a large calendar, the judge warned lawyers that if there were no cases prepared quickly the jury would be sent home. Lawyers for some plaintiffs alleged that the defendants were delaying matters. After but a few hours delay, several cases were made ready for trial. In the case of El Peterson against the Spring Valley Products Company and Alex Schutt, the jury returned a verdict of $200 for the plaintiff. Peterson alleged he bought stock in the company on representation that he would be given certain work such as masonry and plaster work on buildings. He claimed he did not get the work, the verdict was returned.

FIRST FIRE IN MONTH FLIVVER

Department Is Called to 523
Tenth Street

The Bismarck fire department, after not responding to a fire alarm for a month, was called out again today—and the fire was a flivver. Shortly after 11 a. m. the department was called to 523 Tenth street, where firemen said they found ex-celsior burning in the basement of the home of B. T. Reatt, having been started, presumably, from the furnace or ashes. The blaze was extinguished with the chemical. The department was called to the same place in February during a blizzard, when neighbors saw smoke and thought the house was on fire. The fire at that time was some rubbish burning.

DES LACS WOMEN DUMFOUNDED BUT PLAN 'COMEBACK'

Minot, N. D., March 22.—That it will be "rough sledding" for the new administration at Des Lacs, N. D.

which was elected to office Tuesday, to succeed the women who for the past year have guided the destinies of the small Ward county village, was the prediction of Mrs. I. M. Filbert, in Minot. Mrs. Filbert lost out in her campaign for reelection as trustee. She has been in Minot during the past two weeks, serving on the district court jury. "There's something that I don't understand about this affair," she said today. I am positive that our administration has met with general favor at Des Lacs and it was only through some wise political move on the part of the opposition forces that we lost out. I wish that I had been there yesterday instead of in Minot. A year hence may see another change in the administration as we don't intend to remain idle."
